CHARLIE WOULD LIKE TO KEEP HIM

The camera caught these two on Main St., gossiping about the softball season that is gone, or the hockey that is to come. Left is Herb Cain, the ice wizard who represents Newmarket on the Canadians in the N. H. L., right is C. W. Holmes, Bell Telephone technical supervisor, who with Joe Spillette had Cain "signed up" for the softball season. Charlie was saying: "You are sure you won't stay and help us out this winter?"

FAIR ON NEW SCHOOL
COURSES

FRUITS ARE TOPS

The school fairs at York county which have just been concluded, presented a new outlook for the future of this work, particularly in relation to the work of the class-room. The school displays of handicraft, social studies, health, art or other subjects, prepared by the children in school under the direction of the teachers, proved to the somewhat dubious parents that the new curriculum does more than provide for so much cramming and memorization of facts. The exhibits at all fairs were a credit to the schools and were at all times the centre of attraction. The entries of fruit were particularly strong this year, although the vegetables and flowers were somewhat reduced, due partially to the fact that entries were limited to the product of school fair seed supplied by the government. A check-up of the list of seeds distributed ruled a few entries out at nearly every fair. According to W. M. Cockburn, agricultural representative, who directs the fairs, one brother and sister had all their prize money cancelled, except what they won in contests at the fair, because the father had secured several prize-winning exhibits of tomatoes, potatoes, roots and flowers for them at the previous day's school fair in another township.

The management and judges are to be commended for detecting these things and their determination to protect the rights of the boys and girls, yes, and the parents who are playing the game. In all, there were 11 fairs and with one exception, all enjoyed fine weather. The use of a public-address or loud-speaker system, where hydro was available, added to the interest of the fairs, enabling everyone to follow the program more satisfactorily.

Appeal Issued For Shrubs For New Lions Club Park

HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY PLAYS BIG PART IN
BEAUTIFYING TOWN

Newmarket Horticultural Society is giving 2,000 tulip bulbs, including six varieties to the separate and public schools and also 50 high-class peony roots, all named, to the Lions club park, according to Norman Williams, secretary-treasurer of the society. In fact, the society members are themselves planting the peony roots.

Frank Bowser, chairman of the Lions club park committee, has asked for gifts of flowering shrubs.

"We can use 60 or 70 flowering shrubs in the next two weeks if we can get them for nothing," said Mr. Bowser.

Mr. Bowser said that he would like to know the quantity and the variety of shrubs which citizens were ready to give, and he would appreciate them getting in touch either with himself or Norman Williams.

The new park promises to be extremely attractive next year. Even now it is a pleasure to behold.

OF EUROPE'S DICTATORS

ADDRESSES LIONS

"I am a child of a post-war world, I was ten years old when the last war ended." Rev. Harold Vaughan, of Bradford and Holland Landing United church, declared at a Lions club meeting on Monday evening.

Mr. Vaughan spoke on Hitler, Stalin and Mussolini and their respective countries. "The magnitude of that world war and its losses are incalculable, ten million dead, that many more wounded, economic confusion," Mr. Vaughan said. "The purpose of the treaty of Versailles was to preserve for all time the record of Germany's guilt, to give her an impossible economic program, to keep her down forever."

"To treat a man that way when he is defeated, when he is a man with a noble history of achievement, is to sow the seeds for future trouble. This war is the product of Versailles and Hitler."

"Hitler is a contradictory, complex, unpredictable, character. He is about the most hated and most loved man in the modern world. He was born in Austria. As John Gunther has said, only an Austrian could be so intensely German. People say his physical courage is questionable. Some say he is a liar. He has a great capacity for self-deception. He is not cultured."

"There are some things about him that are admirable, perhaps more than we are prepared to admit at this time. He is frugal. He has no desire for money. He (Page 6, Col. 5)

POPULAR BANK MAN PROMOTED TO BRANCH

Accountant of the Newmarket branch of the Bank of Toronto for the last five years, Alex. MacKay has been appointed manager of the branch at Kerwood, between London and Sarnia.

By a coincidence this was the first branch of which H. E. Lambert, present Newmarket manager, had charge.

Mr. MacKay will take up his new duties immediately, and will be replaced here by Mr. Lancaster. Mrs. MacKay will remain in Newmarket for a week or so.

Mr. MacKay, a native of Scotland, has been in the service of the Bank of Toronto for the past 11 years, ever since his arrival in Canada, and previously served for nine years in the Clydesdale Bank in the old country.

Mr. MacKay told The Era that he would miss very much the congenial and friendly people of Newmarket.

Jailed And Fined As Hit-Run Driver In Spite Of All Denial

MAGISTRATE DOESN'T BELIEVE IT POSSIBLE HE

GETS SEVEN DAYS

Convicted on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident, Gregory O'Donnell, Richvale, was sentenced to jail for seven days and in addition he was fined $25 and costs of $16.60 and his license was cancelled for two months.

"I was driving north on Yonge St. on Sept. 1 at 10 p.m.," stated John Kelly, Toronto. "I saw a car ahead and I took to pass, and then, just as I was passing, the car swerved to the left and knocked me against a telephone pole and into the ditch."

"When I turned out to pass there was no traffic approaching from the north. The accident occurred south of Richmond Hill on the two-lane highway. The other car never stopped but went right on. My car was damaged to the extent of $125 and I had to get a new car. I didn't get the license number of the other car involved."

"From information received after the accident Constable Jackman and I went to O'Donnell's home at Richvale and we asked to see his car, which was in the garage," testified Constable Ferguson. "The left front corner was damaged and there was some green paint on it similar to that on the Kelly car."

Ladies Reject Advice To Elect Man As President

SAYS MONEY COLLECTED
SHOULD BE SPENT
LOCALLY

The question whether a man or woman should head the Newmarket branch of the Red Cross Society was debated at the second organization meeting, held in the town hall on Saturday afternoon.

Capt. Innes of the Toronto headquarters of the Red Cross Society brought the intimation that the organization would prefer a man as president.

Newmarket ladies seemed to think it was a woman's job. "During the last war the president of the Red Cross had to superintend the cutting out of pyjamas," said one lady. "I wonder how a man would like to do that?" Rev. A. J. Patstone, rector of St. Paul's, spoke in favor of a man as president.

None of the ladies present, however, would accept a nomination as president, and Mrs. H. E. Lambert, who was not present, was nominated. Aubrey Davis, president of the Davis Leather Co., who was also absent, was nominated as a capable business man to be president.

Then the balloting took place, which resolved itself into the question whether a man or woman should preside, and resulted (Page 4, Col. 4)

ALONG MAIN STREET -- A Thought By Observer

To park or not to park? To kill or be killed? To smash another's car or to have your car smashed? These are the questions, what are the answers? Neither doctors nor undertakers nor auto mechanics would vote to carry on simply for the sake of business. This parking problem and we should do something about it.

As one who has travelled much and observed a good deal let me offer a suggestion. Let Main St. be made a "one way street" from south to north extending from Water St. to Park Ave. Have angle parking only on the east side of the street. Permit any two-hour parking. Widen Park Ave. opening at Main, and make Park from Main to Church a "one-way street" and Church from Park to Water one-way.

That would mean all traffic coming from the South would come up the main street and park on the right hand side if wishing to park or drive right through. All traffic from the north could turn west on Park Ave. and south on Church to Botsford or Timothy or D'Arcy and then travel north again on Main. Many towns had this parking problem and faced it and solved it.

RECORDS FALL INTO OBLIVION AT N.H.S. MEET

NO LESS THAN 17 RECORDS

AFTERNOON

INTER-SCHOOL NEXT

By RALPH M. ADAMS

Assaulting the hall of track records, the present crop of athletes at the local high school battered some 17 previous marks into oblivion on Tuesday afternoon. Acting on a hunch, Principal Bastedo set the field day one day ahead of time, and to good advantage, as Wednesday turned out wet. The only criticism heard was the lack of entries in some events. Some of the sprints showed only two starters.

With three divisions, juvenile, junior and senior in both boys' and girls' events, the card was a full one. When the points were all counted at the end of the day, Harry Peppiatt and Agnes Wilmet were the juvenile winners, with Mary McComb and Marion Crowder in a tie for the junior girls' title and Bill Jelley the junior king. In the senior division Helen O'Halloran took the feminine laurels while Bob Dixon copped the boys' title.

Seventeen marks shattered in one afternoon is a nice day's work and the local coaches will certainly not feel as jittery about the inter-school next week as they did last week. Perhaps the purple and gold have a better chance than they had previously figured, certainly the old fight is there. Yours truly remembers a certain other year that the N. H. S. were thought to be the outsiders at inter-school and promptly snowed the opposition under. That was about 1931. (Page 3, Col. 6)

BOXING BOUTS ARE HELD NEXT THURSDAY

A boxing card consisting of seven 5-round bouts will be held in Newmarket arena Thursday, Oct. 5, at 8.30 p.m. It includes such boys as Geo. Pignolia, 160-lb. city champion and runner-up for the dominion title, Jack Raven, classy Classic club 147-pounder, who fights our local Johnny O'Connor, the Ferguson boys of the R. A. F., Camp Borden, Tommy Burke, our local 126-pounder, who is fast becoming a real boxer and a number of other good boys from the Y. M. C. A. and other Toronto clubs.

This card was arranged by Joe Spillette, Newmarket, and Conch Allen of the Classic Athletic club, Toronto, and is sanctioned by the Ontario Athletic Commission. To encourage the ladies, free admission is given when accompanied by a gentleman.

ALREADY THEY'RE PLANNING TO HELP

A group of talented young artists are planning to give a recital during the month of November, the proceeds of which will be donated to the local Red Cross society.

All of these young people reside in Newmarket and are showing considerable initiative by offering their services for such a worthy cause.

It is hoped that citizens will patronize this recital generously when the time arrives and by doing so not only encourage these young people but materially aid a cause that is so worthy and urgently in need of your support.

CHAIRMAN AND WIFE
ENTERTAIN STAFF

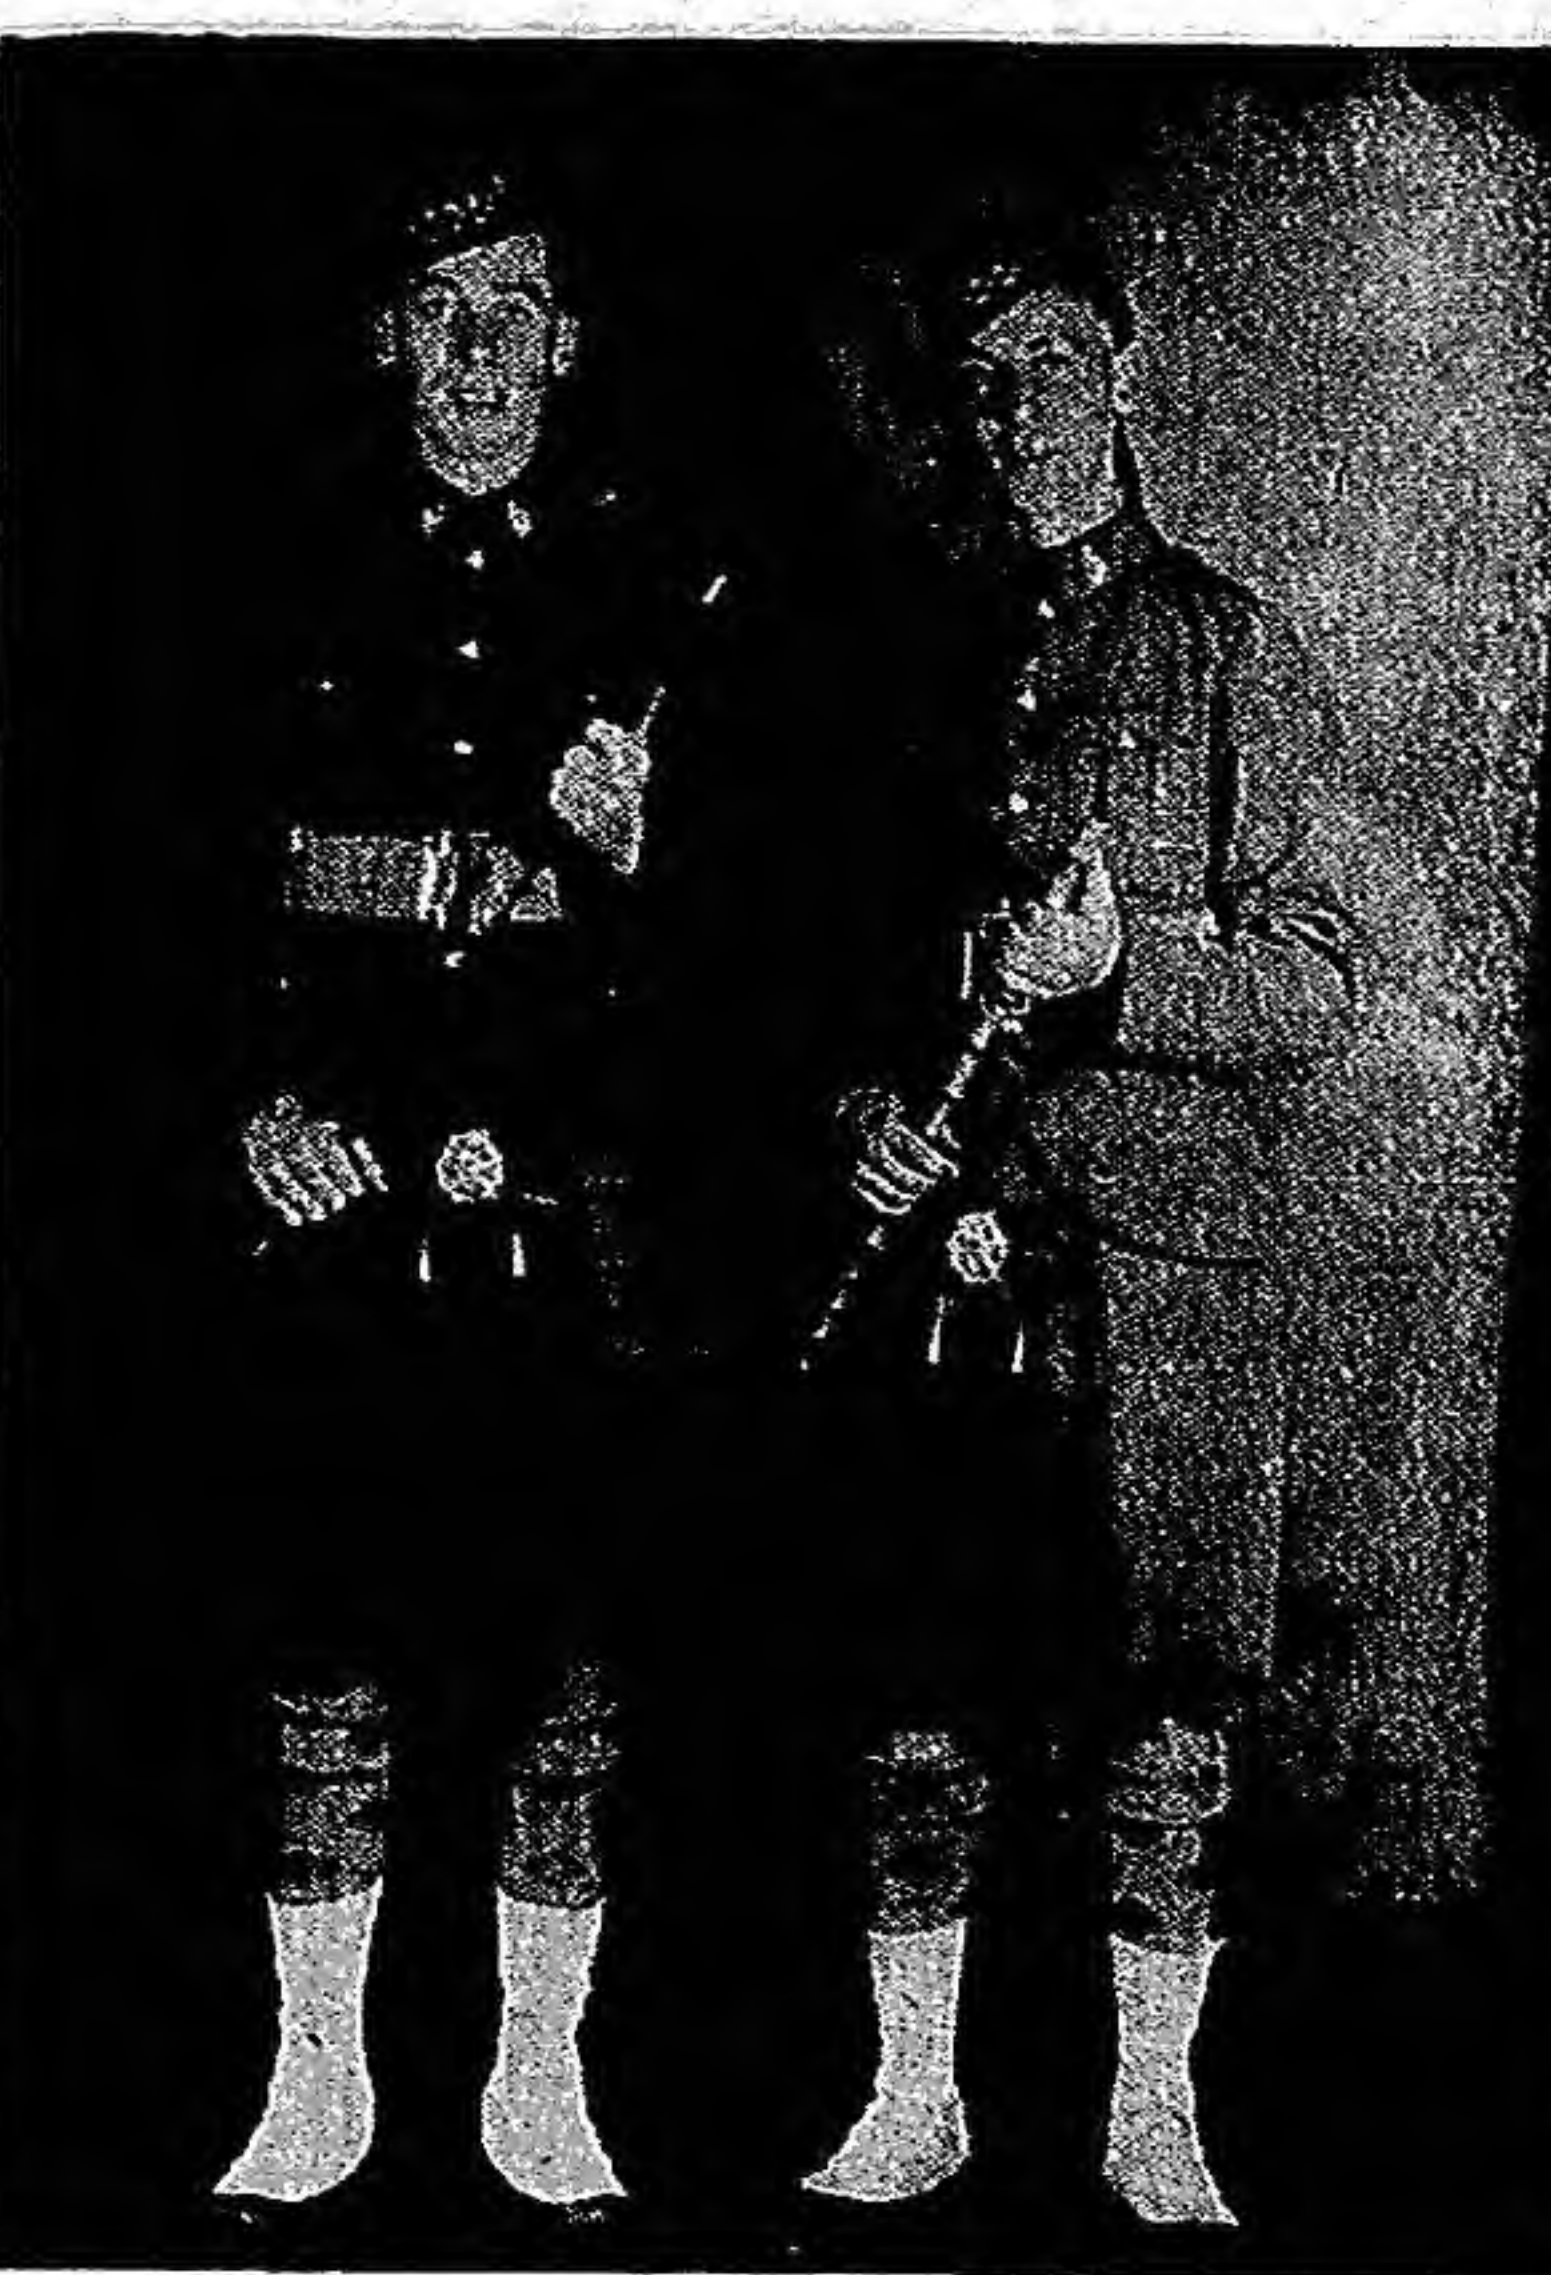

A delightful afternoon was spent a week ago Saturday at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Eves, on Lake Simcoe, by the staff of the Newmarket public schools and the members of the public school board and their wives. Ideal summer weather prevailed, which made bathing and bathing popular diversions. Lunch and games on the spacious lawn, followed by a camp-fire with a marshmallow roast, coupled with the genial hospitality of the host and hostesses, rounded out an afternoon of pleasant relaxation.

Coming Events

Thursday, Nov. 2 -- Christian church hot turkey supper.

Friday, Nov. 24 -- St. Paul's Ladies' Aid bazaar.

BROTHERS ARE IN TORONTO SCOTTISH

With the exception of Veteran Vic Bridges, Jimmie (right) and David White, sons of Veteran Bill White, are said to be Newmarket's first two recruits. David, the younger, was in the Toronto Scottish guard of honor at the time the queen presented colors to the regiment at Queen's Park, and re-enlisted a day or two after the outbreak of hostilities. With him went his brother, Jimmie. Both gave up jobs and both are in C company. Toronto Scottish is a mechanized machine-gun unit. Photo by Budd Studio.

96-Year-Old Citizen Walks To Aurora To Visit Friends

CONTENDS WITH MOTOR-ISTS WHO THINK HE SHOULD BE HOME

Newmarket's oldest citizen, 96-year-old Philip Smith, walked to Aurora last Thursday.

It is true, as he will tell you, that he got a lift when he had reached St. Andrew's College, but he made up for that with a false start.

Mr. Smith, who boards with Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Firth, Timothy St., while they were away started out in a pair of house slippers to visit friends in Aurora. He had been talking about the trip for a long time.

Seeing him down on Eagle St., George Ayers picked him up in his car and took him home, much to Mr. Smith's annoyance. He immediately set out again. This time he had reached Yonge St. when another motorist thought he should be taken home.

Mr. Smith, who chose to walk along the centre white line of the pavement, said: "I say no. I mean no." He continued on his way.

There he visited the home of Reeve J. A. Knowles, enjoyed himself greatly, and was brought home that night by the reeve's son.

Now he is talking of "hitch-hiking" to Sharon to see friends there.

Mr. Smith was born in England and has lived in Newmarket since the seventies.

BRITISH JUSTICE

There is generally understood to be a rule of English law that a man charged with a crime is innocent in the eyes of the law until he is proved guilty. It would be more correct to say until he is "found guilty," for unfortunately it does sometimes happen that an innocent man is found guilty but, of course, he could not have been "proved guilty." A guilty man too may be "found guilty," but not be "proved guilty," in a case where the prosecution is dependent on circumstantial evidence.

Circumstantial Evidence

An Ontario man has just been found guilty of murder and has been sentenced to death on so-called circumstantial evidence. The prosecutor told the jury that seldom in a murder case is there anything else but circumstantial evidence against the accused. Seldom are there eye-witnesses to a murder, and seldom does an accused man admit his guilt in the manner of the murderer in a detective story after the detectives have reached their conclusion and made their accusation. Seldom too does an accused man take the stand in his own defence. He does not have to do so, but he may. If he does, however, he must submit to examination by the crown as well as by his own counsel. The fact that a man does not take the stand in his own defence might seem to indicate that he has something to hide, but it is a rule of English law (and it is such rules that give the term "British justice" its meaning) that the prosecutor cannot refer to the failure of the prisoner to give evidence on his own behalf.

Trial By Jury

It might seem unfair to convict a man without absolute proof of his guilt, but it must be remembered that a man cannot be convicted if even one of his 12 peers feels that there is sufficient doubt that he will not say the word guilty. An accused person is not found guilty on any majority vote. He is not found guilty if even 11 of the 12 jurors say guilty. That rule does not remove all possibility of mistake but it is a sufficient safeguard to enable the average man to sleep soundly of nights.

Not Even Committed

Not every man charged with crime is put on trial. About three weeks ago a British Columbia magistrate dismissed a charge of murder. That would not be equivalent to an acquittal, but it was perhaps better, for the magistrate said that there was not enough evidence to warrant a trial. Again the evidence was entirely circumstantial. A man's lifeless body was pulled from Vancouver harbor a few hours after a night watchman on a nearby tug had heard two men quarreling on the dock.

Appeal Is Possible

Under British law a man's case is not hopeless even after he has been found guilty, for there is still the possibility of an appeal. An appeal court may dismiss the appeal, it may dismiss the charge and give the accused man a clean bill of health, though it is unlikely to do so, or it may grant a new trial. A remarkable case occurred in the province of Nova Scotia about 15 years ago. A negro was charged with murder and, although his counsel produced witnesses who swore that he was in the city of St. John, in the province of New Brunswick, at the time the alleged murder was supposed to have taken place in Truro, Nova Scotia, a jury found him guilty.

An Unusual Murder Trial

It had been a long trial, and the jury was likely to be out for a long time, and counsel for the defence arranged that his client be taken out of the prisoner's box and be removed from the courtroom until the jury should bring in its verdict. The jury did return and did give its verdict and the judge dismissed the jury, and then had the prisoner brought in to pronounce sentence on him or else pronounced it later. At any rate, defence counsel secured a new trial on the ground that the prisoner was not in court when the jury returned their verdict. There followed four more trials. The first three resulted in disagreements and the fourth in an acquittal.

Mistakes Inevitable

British justice, as understood in English criminal law, is so fair that it sometimes seems to "lean backwards" in an effort to find a way out for the accused, but we must still remember that inevitably an innocent man is sometimes convicted.

WHOSE RESPONSIBILITY?

Ontario's political leaders have declared themselves ready to do anything in their power to help with the prosecution of the war, and they demand that no one shall say anything that will interfere with the prosecution of the war. Yet they make a demand on Ottawa that the federal government shall pay the cost of guarding Ontario's utilities, and attack a government that must be under great strain already.

An Orilla Claim

The Orilla Packet and Times remarks: "Let us say we have no sympathy with the hue and cry being raised because the federal government, with responsibilities enough on its hands, does not undertake to provide for the 'defence' of all the public utilities in the country. That is a police duty, which may very well be undertaken by the province. Sniping at the dominion government because it doesn't do this or that isn't going to help win the war or create a feeling of unity. Orilla really has more of a grievance against the province, because the government is undertaking to guard the Hydro plants, but refuses to give the same service at the plants owned by this town. The Hydro is simply a group of municipalities, owning and operating power plants co-operatively, and there is no more reason why the province should provide guards for the group-owned plants than for the plants owned by this town. But in war, there isn't time to quarrel over such details. Orilla paid for the guards on her own plants last time, and will, we presume, be prepared to do so again, if necessary, even though it is considered that the attitude assumed by the provincial government is unfair. Let us not stop to argue over who is to pay for such necessary services, but get on with the work of throwing Canada's whole energies into the war."

SHOP-WORK

When the teaching of household economics and shop-work in our Ontario high schools was made optional, it was thought that there would be more schools wanting to teach shop-work than there would be qualified teachers. Already the balance seems to have swung in the other direction. In spite of a reported general shrinkage in the number of high school teachers available for academic subjects, there seem to be more shop-work teachers than schools for them. In appointing a shop-work teacher two weeks ago St. Mary's collegiate institute board chose from among 11 applicants. It would appear, at this date, that most of the others would be without schools for the year, in spite of the expense of preparing themselves for this special work. It is time a few more high schools fell into line. The successful St. Mary's applicant will receive a salary of $1,400.

PAID-IN-ADVANCE IS THEIR AMBITION

A number of Ontario's larger town newspapers are now endeavoring to get their subscription lists on a paid-in-advance basis similar to The Era's. They belong to an organization named the "Class A Weeklies," which employs a salesman to approach national advertisers. Their representative has found that national advertisers want to know how much circulation they have and they want to know whether it is paid for or not. The result is a scramble to get their mailing-lists on a business-like basis.

First Obligation to Readers

To give better service to advertisers is one reason why The Era took this step three years ago, but the primary reason was to play the game fairly with subscribers. We felt that we had no right to keep sending The Era to a subscriber whose subscription had run out and who had not re-ordered it. We felt that we had no right to put people in debt for The Era. We decided to give subscribers a new deal, and the result has been gratifying. The Era's paid circulation is now greater than it ever was. It is also true that we have received recognition from both national and local advertisers, who would sooner buy paid circulation than free or arrears circulation.

"Outstanding Weeklies"

The Orilla Packet and Times is one of the weeklies which is endeavoring to put itself on a modern basis. The following paragraphs are taken from an announcement in that weekly. The Packet and Times tells its readers that the "Class A Weeklies" are "the outstanding rural papers of Canada," when it would be a little more correct to say "among the outstanding rural weeklies of Canada," for there are many outstanding weeklies which have not the additional distinction of belonging to this particular group. For instance, there is the Fergus News-Record, which is probably the most quoted of all Ontario weeklies, and there is, of course, "Ontario's first paid-in-advance weekly." And there are quite a few exceptionally fine weekly newspapers published in some of Ontario's smaller towns and villages which are not less outstanding but just necessarily have less circulation than some of their much-envied brethren of the Class A Weeklies.

The Modern Trend

However, we just wanted to prove that we knew what we were talking about a couple of years ago when we told our readers that all weeklies would come to the paid-in-advance system. They are on the way. And here is the Packet and Times, published in a town of 8,000 population, to speak for itself:

"Many subscribers during the past week became paid-in-advance readers. Not a few are now paid up till 1941. They will not have to worry about their subscription, and there will be no postage to pay to send them accounts. Once a subscription is paid-in-advance, it will be easy to keep it paid that way."

"It has not always been the custom for rural weeklies to have subscribers paid-in-advance, though many did it. But it is becoming the custom, because it is better for both the subscriber and the publisher. Daily papers and magazines long ago made this a rule."

"We look forward to another good week and ask the co-operation and assistance of all our subscribers to make the Packet and Times mailing-list paid in advance, as is being done by all the larger and most influential rural weeklies in Canada. This group is known as the Class A Weeklies, an organization recognized by all national agencies and advertising agencies as the outstanding rural papers of Canada. The Packet and Times is a Class A Weekly."

It is to be hoped that the Hepburn government will pass along to the municipalities further subsidies as a reduction of the mill rate next year. It now appears that the increased gasoline tax is producing substantially increased revenues and is reducing gasoline sales only slightly.

There is every reason for Ontario municipalities to keep on with their present policy of reducing debenture debts and mill rates. It is unfortunate that war has come before they had made sufficient progress to encourage a building boom. Additional housing is needed in most Ontario municipalities, and yet building costs are now likely to go up sharply.

The Barrie Examiner thinks that even if it were possible to obey the admonition to carry on at home as if there were no war, it is not desirable. Why should not the war get on our nerves, queries the Examiner, and quotes Shakespeare's Tempest: "O, I have suffered with them that I saw suffer."

Hon. J. L. Halsey, minister of national revenue, is quoted as follows in the Barrie Examiner: "Freedom of speech, even to those you are sure are wrong in what they say; freedom of assembly even for those you think would be far better at home; freedom of conscience and religion even for those whose religion or lack of religion you disapprove; elections at not too great intervals; and the rule of law and order—these are the features of democracy."

The Common Round

FRUITS OF THE YEAR

By Isabel Inglis Colville

I might, I suppose, write a dissertation, learned or otherwise, on the huge, luscious peaches, delectable pears, great crimson tomatoes and jewel-like peppers which at present we are conserving.

Instead, I am going to write of the fruit of the children's school year as seen at the school fair held at Vandonf on the 13th of September.

Each year emphasizes more surely the stress which is being laid on handicraft in the schools. Years ago it would have been thought sacrilege to divert the pupils' attention from storing in sadly tried memories, the fact that two twos divided by a saw-horse made four, or that "I am, thou art, he is," had anything to do with the verb, "to be."

We were at school to have certain facts drilled into us—if they stuck, so much the better—if they left us, it was just too bad. But as Mrs. Brown and I made the circuit of the Vandonf hall, we saw just how radically ideas have changed as regard the storing of the young mind.

Of course, there was the usual display of flowers, fruit, grain and vegetables—and a good display it was. Some of the flower arrangements would not have disgraced a florist, and some indeed were more daring combinations of color than the average florist would care to risk.

But as we stopped to admire, we were joined by Mrs. James Hope, whose gift for arranging flowers is a very real gift, and she, admiring too, said, "Have you ever noticed that you can use color combinations in flowers that you would never dare to use in—say—a hat?"

Nature does what art cannot—she can blend and soften her own beauty. But I think it was the project work which exercised the greatest attraction for most people.

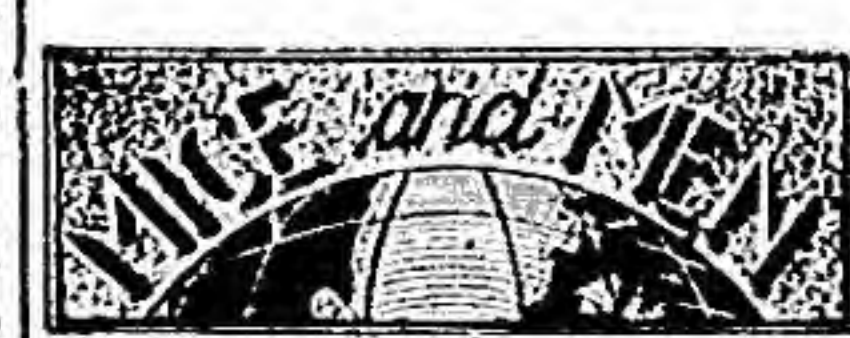

It gives concrete evidence of the trend of education toward the practical. I looked at the sewing—beautifully done, with embroidery adding to its charm, and thought that learning to sew wouldn't have been so bad had it been done in company and with such attractive materials.

Like every other child of my generation, I, too, learned to sew—but it was not concert work—purely solo—and therefore a bit dreary.

By the time I was 14 I had quite a pile of dainty under-clothing made by my own fair (?) hands, and trimmed with the crocheted and hemstitched fruit of many hours of finger pricking and eye strain; but work of this kind done in the modern way is fun.

There was a wheelbarrow there, which made me break the tenth commandment—a solid, workman-like wheelbarrow, painted red, and looking as if it had been made by an expert.

There were dishes of pottery, no less, and there were Dutch villages, and every kind of transportation facilities; some done in

According to an Austrian source, Germany is feverishly building fortifications resembling the Siegfried line along the Italian border.

Premier Arman Calinescu of Roumania was shot and killed last Thursday by men believed to be Iron Guardists, when an automobile drew alongside his own.

That hoboes in the west have a sense of honor was indicated when a group of them sent to the agent of the Canadian National railways at Kamloops, B. C., the sum of $20 as conscience money for rides stolen on freight trains. The hoboes did not give their names.

Hundreds of Jews trudged through Prague's streets on Tuesday, to their synagogues, bearing their radios. The Gestapo had ordered all radios in Jewish hands turned in there, and during the afternoon they were picked up in trucks and hauled off to an unknown destination.

Authoritative sources at Queen's Park laughed on Monday at reports from Quebec that the Ontario government would call a provincial election "on questions of economic and constitutional rights within a short time."

Donald "Mickey" MacDonald was granted a new trial by the Ontario court of appeal on Tuesday. MacDonald was under sentence of death for the murder of James Windsor, Toronto book-maker, in Windsor's home on Jan. 7.

Loring Christie took up his cardboard, some in wood, and some in plasticine. And the scenery painted as backgrounds for exhibits pointed out, plainly, that the small students of today are the artists of tomorrow.

Besides the exhibits there was another thing which intrigued me—the stock judging.

Of course, to me, who as a child regarded a cow somewhat as an older person might have regarded a behemoth—what's a behemoth, by the way?—to see little children handling calves with such sangfroid made me their admirer forever.

Even my inexperienced eye could see the difference in the way the various exhibitors placed their exhibits. The winner had all her calf's legs—excuse me—it wasn't a centipede—but anyway, had the calf's legs set just so—and kept them so, while the judges went about their work.

Marks were taken from those who made the calves into a leaning post, or having once placed them forgot them.

There were big calves and little calves—one so tiny it seemed to me it ought to have been drawn round in a wagon.

It is wonderful what a quick brain will do for a child. I noticed when the lambs were displayed, the judge showed the first lad, who was very small, how to place his lamb, and in a moment I saw his neighbor carefully getting his charge into proper alignment.

As I looked on, I thought how tragic it will be for the children who have toiled to train these frisky creatures and then lose out, and so was delighted to learn that EVERY child who enters the stock judging receives 50 cents. I believe in teaching a child to be a good loser, but—I was glad of the 50 cents.

When the children with their exhibits paraded after the judging, some bravely displaying their ribbons, I felt there should be a band playing a triumphal march and a crown of myrtle for the victors. Mr. Cockburn, on whom the success of these fairs so largely depends, had boxes which he offered to the farmers to fill with earth from their fields and return for analysis.

He said, or rather another gentleman told us, that so much of our soil is so poor that it is even detrimental to animal life, but stressed what could be done to feed the soil.

Mr. Mooney, our inspector, gave a fine address and besides his talk to the children urged the farmers to avail themselves of every means being put forward to meet the growing need for high grade produce.

Altogether, we left the fair with the feeling that if we were going to school now, we'd never want to miss a day, but be glad we were under a system where originality and initiative is fostered and where new moulds have taken the place of the cast-iron set that reigned in our day.

FROST FEARED BY MARSH GROWERS

Scarcely of able-bodied laborers will result in hundreds of dollars loss to celery growers of the Holland and marsh if a heavy frost comes within a few days, it is reported.

Much of this year's crop is still in the ground, waiting to be pulled. So serious is the lack of help that many of the growers are doubling-up, adding in getting each other's crop out before the frost sets in. Once it strikes, the crop is practically ruined, and is good only for immediate market and not for storage.

Most growers were working feverishly on Sunday in an effort to beat the cold spell. They don't usually work on Sundays, but the possibility of the loss of their year's work forced sacrifice of the day of rest.

Last year a very good crop was harvested, but much of it was held in cold storage, due to a controversy over the size of many of the wooden crates. As a result, thousands of dollars were lost.

"This year the same mistake will not be made. All crates have been made to government specifications, which allows for between 40 and 45 bunches of celery packed in tightly. Eight now in Toronto a crate sells for 80 cents to the wholesaler."

The Holland Marsh growers prefer to place their large quantities of celery in cold storage plants in the city, where it will be available for the winter market and a higher price. Last year a high of $1.15 was received. A slightly higher price is expected this year, based on the extra good sale of the celery so far this season.

Out of the $1.15 price, the celery grower gets very little return. A margin of ten to 20 cents is tops, for out of the $1.15 must come labor costs, crates, trucking to Toronto and storage. Add to this the cost of fertilizer and other ingredients so necessary for the growth of the celery, and there is very little left over.

The crates cost 15 cents each, freight charge is eight cents per

EVEN PARENTS NEED EDUCATING

BY RUTH DINGMAN HEBB

"How do you like the orchestra of tree toads that we've been having all night lately?" inquired Hattie Nuthatch of her friend, Mrs. Woody, the Downy Woodpecker.

"Oh, nothing like that bothers me," said the Woodpecker airily. "I'll grant you that there are a great many insects and things that keep up quite a racket through the night, though. At this time of year the crickets seem to keep up a continual chirping and the grasshoppers and cicadas and dear knows what all chime in in all sorts of queer keys."

"Here's the lady that doesn't like listening to things like that," announced Hattie as Merry Chickadee joined them. "Are you still listening to the Great-horned Owl at nights, Merry, my dear?"

"No, not for the last few," said the Chickadee, "but last night I was disturbed by a couple of Screech Owls calling. It was early this morning, really, at about five o'clock—that would be four o'clock standard time."

"Were they calling very loudly?" asked the Woodpecker.

"Not so loudly, perhaps," said Merry. "But they always sound so weird. And they give several different calls too. One is a sort of snoring whistle—and then I heard lots of repetitions of their tremulous, wailing call that is so well-known."

"Why, just look at all the Flickers flying about in these trees!" exclaimed Hattie. "There must be about 20 of them or more. What's going on?"

"They're gathering for migration, I guess," said the Woodpecker. "And what a good time they're having all together."

"Good morning ladies!" Rob Robin broke in just then. "I was just talking to some of your crowd a few minutes ago. They were asking me about my cousin, the Wood Thrush."

"Is he here?" exclaimed Merry. "When did he arrive?"

"Arrive?" asked Rob in amazement. "You mean, when does he leave, don't you?"

"Well, er—he's just come, hasn't he?" stammered Merry in embarrassment. "Isn't he on the way south from the north?"

"Not from the north," laughed Rob in superior tones. "He's farther north now than Wood Thrushes usually come. Ordin-ately they only come to the southern parts of Canada. This one has been nesting up here, though, and is just getting ready to go south now."

"Dear me, how ignorant I am," murmured Merry. "I don't suppose I'd even know him if I saw him."

"He's a Woodland bird, as his name suggests," said Rob, "and he looks quite like the Brown Thrasher in color, but he's smaller, with a shorter tail, straight bill and dark eye, instead of light, like the Thrashers."

"I never know one Thrush from another," said Hattie helplessly.

"The Wood Thrush is larger than the other Thrushes that you see in this part of the country," the Robin told her. "And its breast is pure white, with very sharply contrasting round spots on it. Its back is a more yellowish brown than that of the other Thrushes, and is brightest on its head."

"I'll try and remember that," promised Hattie seriously. "Does he sing much?" inquired the Woodpecker lady.

"Oh yes, he's a lovely singer," said Rob. "He's sometimes called the Song Thrush. These mornings at dawn he just gives his short call though—'quit, quit, quit, quit.' You may hear him some morning."

"Just look at that lovely orange Monarch Butterfly," said Hattie. "There are all kinds of beautiful butterflies flying lazily around these days."

"I see something even more interesting," said Rob Robin. "And that is a slinky black cat—and moreover, he sees us. I think this would be a good time for me to pay a visit to a nice row of Mountain Ash trees I know about—quite a little distance from here. They're delicious."

"We'd all better be moving," Merry Chickadee chirped nervously.

"My, don't I feel mortified about thinking that the Wood Thrush came from farther north," she muttered to herself as she hurried away. "It isn't only our children who make ridiculous mistakes. Oh, there's Handsome the Blue Jay, again, so I must go the other way. I seem to run into him everywhere just now, when I'm trying especially to avoid him."

POLICE COURT DENIES TO CONSTABLE HE WAS IN ACCIDENT

On a charge of driving while his license was suspended, David Williams, 19, Aurora, was sentenced to jail for seven days and in addition he was fined $10 and costs of $6.50. Magistrate W. F. Woodliffe imposed the penalty at the police court here on Tuesday. The court session ended at 11:45 and was the shortest one held here in many weeks.

"On Sunday morning, Sept. 24, at 10:30 a.m., I learned that there had been an accident on Yonge St. in which Williams had been involved, and a short time later I saw him sitting behind the wheel of a car on Main St. here," testified Constable Kenneth Mount. "I asked Williams for his operator's license and he produced a license in the name of Vaughan Williams, who I understand is his brother.

"I questioned the accused in regard to the accident on Yonge St. and he replied that he hadn't been in one that night but that he had been in one the previous week at Toronto. I got him to drive me out to Yonge St. where the driver of the other car involved in the accident was waiting. The other driver identified Williams as the one who had hit him.

"I asked Williams why he had told me a lie and he said that he figured that I was only a town policeman and it was none of my business whether or not he had been in an accident," continued Constable Mount. "While we were waiting at Yonge St. for a traffic officer Williams was arguing with me and he swore twice at me. I have seen him several times on our streets and sometimes he was driving erratically and other times he was driving alright. When Constable Jackson arrived he took over the investigation of the accident and I came back to town. Later that night Williams returned and said if I knew what was best I would let him go and not lay any charge."

"Why did you grab me by the neck?" asked Williams.

"I didn't," answered Constable Mount. "I just grabbed you by the shirt when you swore at me."

Provincial Constable Howard Jackson stated that the accident in which Williams had been involved was only a minor one and that Williams had come to an understanding with the driver about the repairs, so he didn't lay any charge. "Williams produced a license to me in the name of Vaughan and said it was the same one he had shown Constable Mount. Williams told me that the suspension had been lifted. Later that morning I saw Williams two or three times driving the car up and down Yonge St."

Crown Attorney N. L. Mathews, K. C., stated that Williams had been convicted of reckless driving in March, 1938, and that his license was suspended at that time and that the suspension was still in effect. Mr. Mathews stated that Williams had been fined three times for driving while his license was suspended.

"Didn't I give you a warning when you appeared before me in June?" asked Magistrate Woodliffe. "Yes," answered Williams. "You just refuse to listen to the suspension and you are determined to drive anyway," stated the magistrate. "Even after the officers stopped you you kept on going. I don't know how long you think we can put up with this, as you have already been convicted three times. The only way to stop you is to sentence you to jail. If you get the urge to drive again you had better keep in mind that you are liable to a jail term of six months and a fine of $500 for this offence."

Convicted on a charge of having liquor in an illegal place, Albert Wright, Aurora, was fined $100 and costs of $15, or three months, and the liquor was ordered confiscated. Wright pleaded guilty to the charge.

"On Aug. 16, at 3:45 a.m., in company with Chief Constable Stuart and Constable Potter we went to the Aurora Golf and Country Club on the authority of a search warrant," stated County Constable Wm. Martindale. "On searching the refreshment booth I observed a quantity of ale and there were also some bottles in the refrigerator. In all we found 44 pints of ale and six dozen empty bottles. Mr. Wright told us that he was the owner and he accepted the responsibility for the liquor."

After pleading guilty to the theft of a pair of shoes, an 18-year-old Keswick youth was given suspended sentence and placed on probation for six months. An order for the restitution of the shoes to the owner was also made.

Richard Willoughby, Keswick, stated that the youth came into his store to make a purchase and that he himself went out on an errand. When he returned to the store the youth had gone and the next morning he discovered that a pair of shoes he had only worn a couple of times were missing. Mr. Willoughby stated. Two nights later he saw the youth wearing the shoes, so he informed the police.

Convicted on a charge of permitting drunkenness, Elias Smart, Newmarket, was fined $10 and costs of $14.

Constable Kenneth Mount said that in answer to a complaint he and Chief Constable Sloss went to Mr. Smart's house on Tecumseh St. at 4:30 a.m. on Sunday, Sept. 3. He said that he found Henry Graham, Dick Thompson and Mr. Smart there, and that they were intoxicated. Mr. Smart not so much so as the other two. They seized seven gallons of cherry wine and three gallons of dandelion wine, which they found in the cellar.

Mr. Smart told the magistrate that the dandelion wine was four years old but that it was not intoxicating.

R. G. Heiber, Camp Borden, speeding, at 70 m.p.h. on Yonge St., $10 and costs, charge laid by Provincial Constable Alex. Ferguson.

A charge of having illegal possession laid against Ross Pipher, Newmarket, was also adjourned two weeks.

A charge of keeping liquor for sale laid against Mary and Thomas Patterson, King township, was adjourned one week for hearing.

Abe Nashman, Toronto, was ordered to pay wages owing of $10 within two weeks or serve ten days in jail. The complainant, Ruth Brooks, Mount Albert, stated that she worked for Nashman, two months at Balfour Beach and was supposed to receive $15 monthly but had only received $20 altogether.

A charge of dangerous driving laid against James B. Stone, Queensville, was adjourned to the Adelaide St. court for hearing next Wednesday. The charge was laid as the result of an accident near Queensville Sept. 8 when Anthony Gardiner, 58, Gormley, received fatal injuries and the horse he was riding was killed in an impact with the Stone car.

Real estate bail was set at $1,000 for Norman Elmer, Aurora, who is charged with obtaining $400 by fraud from Cousins Dairy, Aurora. The charge was adjourned one week for hearing.

KESWICK DECLARES GOD HEARS GERMANS WHO PRAY

Rev. C. E. Fockler was in charge of both services at the United church on Sunday. In his very fine morning sermon he asked that the congregation remember "that God is everywhere, with the people of Poland, with the English children away from their parents, as well as with the worshipping people in Germany. Christ is more than an example, He is The Power, which will help hold mankind to God during these critical times, for Christ always faced things with courage."

ROCHE'S POINT ORGANIZE RED CROSS SOCIETY BRANCH

A well-represented meeting of the citizens of the community of Roche's Point, was held in Christ church parish hall on Saturday evening, Sept. 23. The purpose was to organize a branch of the Canadian Red Cross society in this district.

Mr. MacKinnon then took charge of the meeting, and explained that the purpose of this gathering was to organize a local branch of the Canadian Red Cross society, for war-time work.

He explained how necessary it was for this community to get started with as little delay as possible, the work that was being carried on in other parts of the dominion and further stressed the fact that by organizing and obtaining a charter from Red Cross, what could be accomplished.

The following officers were elected: hon. pres., Mrs. J. B. MacKinnon; pres., Mrs. A. J. Forte; vice-pres., Mrs. A. Wallick; secretary-treasurer, Miss M. Young; directors committee, Mrs. J. Badland, Mrs. C. Boyd, Mrs. E. Bunn, Mrs. J. H. Diamond, Mrs. N. Doyle and Miss E. Young.

PEPPER AND SALT

BY "PEP"

Tuesday's record-breaking track and field efforts by the collegiate sophomores should squash any rumors of decay in the high's track and field ability. Seventeen former fantasias went into the discard.

The only weak spots in an otherwise hopeful set-up for next Wednesday's inter-school meet at Richmond Hill turned up in the senior boys' division. However, a week's practice will do some good there.

An outstanding sidelight of the meet was the performance of Bill Jelley. Bill, a junior, set a new N. H. S. record in the standing broad jump which put the seniors to shame. His pole-vaulting was par excellence, also topping the old record and the senior attempt. Incidentally Bill garnered 48 out of a possible 50 points.

Helen O'Halloran rang up three bells in as many starts by breaking a trio of records. This gave Helen the senior crown and a 100 per cent average. Other by all means swell effort were turned in. You will find them narrated elsewhere.

The high school has a healthy interest in the Eckhardt cup, symbol of inter-school track and field supremacy. Usually team-play has been the deciding factor and not the work of any individual star.

Some great one-man efforts have been turned out, however. The alumni will remember Bill Cripps, Jack Stallard, Herb Cain, Lawrence Molyneux and Art Peppiatt, stars of other days. It seems that in retrospect they are nonpareil but with records which they have set up, going steadily by the boards, we know different.

WRITES TO EXPRESS HER APPRECIATION OF REUNION

LOVES OLD TOWN

"Ben-Eleh," Bear Creek Harbor, Lake Ontario, N. Y., Sept. 25, 1939.

Editor, The Era: Despite the fact that it is nearing October, we are still at our cottage, where we have been since August, with the exception of one week when we went up home, to attend the sesqui-centennial of the Quakers settling in Farmington (near our home), the great-grandfather of Mr. Hance being one of the pioneers.

Ever since my return from the "old boys' and girls' reunion, in Newmarket, I have thought, many times, of writing my "thank you" letter, to the good people of the town, and particularly to the committee in charge of arrangements (under Mr. A. (Page 8, Col. 4)

CHURCHES

The services in Trinity United church, Park and Main, next Sunday will be of special interest. At the morning service the children of the graduating class in the primary department will pass on to the junior department and each one will be presented with a Jackson Memorial Bible.

The service will be conducted by the minister, who will preach on "Peace."

The evening service will be addressed by Dr. E. W. Strangway, Angola. Dr. Strangway is one of the best known physicians in Africa and should have a message well worth hearing. All interested in missions are cordially invited.

ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. Fred Thompson of Holt wishes to announce the engagement of his eldest daughter, Edna Meretta, to Earl Grey Pollock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pollock of Queensville, the marriage to take place in October.

Mrs. W. Bacon wishes to announce the engagement of her youngest daughter, Dora Viola, to Eugene McCaffrey, son of Mr. and Mrs. John McCaffrey, the wedding to take place quietly the latter part of October.

Since the meeting Mrs. Lambert has indicated that she cannot accept the presidency, and one or two others have not accepted their offices as yet.

Those elected on Saturday afternoon were: honorary presidents, Mrs. E. J. Davis, Sir William Mulock; president, Mrs. H. E. Lambert; vice-president, Mrs. Walter Stephens; treasurer, Mrs. W. L. Bosworth; secretary, Mrs. Harold McClelland; executive committee, Audrey Davis, G. L. Manning, Geo. D. Wark, Mrs. W. A. McCaffrey, Mrs. P. J. Tod, Mrs. F. H. Hewson.

Mayor Dr. S. J. Boyd presided over Saturday afternoon's meeting.

Appreciation was expressed for a gift of $25 from the old boys' reunion committee.

Rev. A. J. Paterson spoke on the importance of the Red Cross work. Capt. Innes spoke of the Red Cross as an international organization, and suggested that the town's organizations should form a war council, to work through the Red Cross, so as to facilitate getting necessary information and sending out completed work.

Capt. Innes said that money collected locally should be spent locally, and that materials and supplies should be bought in Newmarket.

Miss Edith Robertson, temporary chairman, conducted the election of officers.

Executive Meets
An executive meeting of the Newmarket Red Cross Society was held on Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Robertson. Mrs. Lambert regretted she was unable to accept the presidency, so Mrs. Walter Stephens took the chair. Preliminary steps were taken regarding formation of committees.

The society's immediate need is a room in town, to be used as a work-room. It is earnestly hoped that this may soon be forthcoming.

A committee was formed to purchase wool. Further notice regarding this will be given later when wool is obtainable.

Mrs. P. J. Tod was appointed press secretary. The public is asked to watch the newspapers for future announcements, particularly regarding wool.

needs. The child no longer has to sit quietly with folded hands and have the subjects poured into him regardless of his abilities of absorption.

"Third, children are no longer considered passive receivers, but active doers. Now they learn by doing and not by just hearing and memorizing. Children must have an active school program.

"It is dangerous to believe always that because a child is active that he is learning. Such is not invariably the case.

"All programs for children should be actively effective and purposeful.

"Many enterprises are undertaken at school. These all have a definite objective to attain, but the teacher acts as captain and gives the minimum of help and guidance. With this purpose back of it all, to develop the child so that he plans and executes the enterprise and in so doing, develops self-confidence, ability and assurance, and does away with a weakness so many children have (inferiority complex).

"Now one child of mental alertness is no longer retarded in progress by a less brilliant scholar. The alert child is allowed to go at his own pace. Consequently levels of attainment can be finished at any period of the term, promotions following, provided the teacher considers it in the interests of the child.

"During the school term co-operation is stressed.

"Health is placed first and the student is taught rules of health by living healthily.

"The old grammar lessons have disappeared and in their place has arisen English, embodying many subjects.

"History and geography have given way to social studies. Developing this study, the children receive their geography as the setting of a stage and history becomes the play on that stage. History thus presents high ideals and fine examples.

"Massacres, wars, and horrors are now not stressed. Neither is the memorization of dates considered of any particular importance.

"Cultural values are not neg-

NUMBER OF PROPERTIES HAVE EXCHANGED HANDS

E. A. Boyd, realtor, reports the following property changes:
The farm of 55 acres, lots 29 and 30, concession 5, Whitchurch, at Pine Orchard, formerly owned and occupied by the late Frank Moody who has been sold to Frank Palmer, who takes possession on March 1, 1940.

The desirable home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Palmer, situated on the highway at Sharon, has been sold to an undisclosed buyer, possession, March 1, 1940.

The wonderful farm and buildings, all near of Mrs. C. E. Brandt, lots 13 and 14, on the 2nd concession of East Gwillimbury, 125 acres, have been bought by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Craig. The list price of this farm, which is thoroughly modern, was $15,000. Possession will be given immediately after Mrs. C. E. Brandt's sale, which is on Oct. 2.

Miss Minnie Kelly's house and lot at 47 Botsford St. has been sold to Mr. and Mrs. H. Wallis. Possession, Oct. 15. This house will be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. R. McCabe.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Hills have rented 5 Prospect Ave. from Mrs. E. Slingerland and moved in a short time ago.

Mr. Insley, who recently rented the McCaffrey store as a gent's furnishing store, has rented 42 Millard Ave. and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Riecher, who have occupied 42 Millard Ave., are moving to 12 Victoria St.

Mr. and Mrs. Davidson of North Newmarket are moving to 131 Main St.

Mr. Wilmer Wilson has rented the farm, lots 15 and 16, on the 5th concession, East Gwillimbury township. This farm is owned and occupied by Mr. E. Slingerland, who is moving to Trenton, after his sale on Friday, Oct. 6.

Mr. Cassaway of the Canada Packers has rented 73 Eagle St. from Mrs. C. L. Wilson, and moves to town on Oct. 10.

Music and art are both placed on a par with arithmetic. "Children are taught to express themselves through song, when happy.

"Pupils are asked to take on responsibilities around the school and this leads to fine co-operation with others and with the staff.

"Some pupils are given charge of assembling school and of dismissing school. Others see that there is proper discipline in the schoolyard and basement. Of course, those accepting responsibilities have no thought of policing the playgrounds, as they have no punitive powers. All this rapidly develops personality, leadership and the ability to meet and mingle with one's fellows, which is desirable in life.

Ottawa Statistician Sees Trade Pick-Up

URBAN CENTRES WILL FEEL IMPROVEMENT FIRST, IS OPINION

W. C. Sherman of the statistical branch of the federal department of trade and commerce was in Ottawa this week on departmental business.

Quoted by The Era as to general business conditions he expressed the opinion that when this year's business returns were compared with those of 1932 they would show a noticeable decline. This he pointed out might be offset, however, by increasing business this fall.

He looked for a gradual increasing volume of domestic trade and a sharp drop in unemployment figures as a result of war-time industry.

"Such industrial centres as Hamilton, Welland and Windsor are already experiencing better times," he said. "Thousands who have been on relief for as many as four years are gradually being absorbed by industry."

Even Ottawa Helps In Move To Brighten Up Main Drag

POST OFFICE BRIGHTENS UP, TIDIES UP, WHOLE STREET IMPROVES

The complexion of Yonge St. business section continues to change for the better almost weekly. The steps to the post office, which for years have been a source of nuisance, have been altered until they are now practically of the non-slip type. In addition, painters under the watchful eye of Charles Davies are re-painting the outside woodwork in cream and red. The clock tower was the centre of all eyes last week when a sledge-jack was at work.

A new front and a new paint job is also being given to the haberdashery and shoe store of Fred Rowland.

E. C. Mingay has taken over the service station on north Yonge St., formerly owned by George Whitmore. These premises have been vacant for some months.

Miss Lorraine Hudson last week took over the confectionery and restaurant business which was once operated by Mrs. Martha Travis, but has been closed owing to the latter's ill-health.

STUDY MILKMAN'S PROBLEMS ABROAD

E. H. Clarke, secretary of the Ontario Milk Foundation, in company with other prominent officials of the Foundation, is in Chicago this week on a research trip. They will study the methods and problems confronting the milk producers and consumers of Illinois, and other American states.

BUSINESS PLACE TO BE MOVED

An exchange of properties and an undisclosed sum of money consummated a property deal between Miss Lillian Sprague of Yonge St. and J. A. Mitchell. Miss Sprague, who conducts the Aurora Trading Post, acquired the residence now occupied by E. H. Clarke on Yonge St. south, while Mr. Mitchell obtained Miss Sprague's country residence near Port Perry. It is understood Miss Sprague will move her antique shop to her new residence at once.

TEACHING SUNDAY-SCHOOL MAY DO TEACHER MOST GOOD, SUNDAY-SCHOOL WORKERS ARE TOLD

Sunday-school workers of Toronto Centre Presbyterian gathered in the United church, Aurora, on Friday evening. Dr. E. J. Thompson opened the meeting with Rev. T. R. White assisting in the worship service.

"The Sunday-school moves forward," was the subject of the talk by Rev. Gordon Lapp. "Identify yourself with a cause," he quoted, "you may not do much for it but it will do for you."

"Work in the Sunday-school is a cause," he continued. "Leisure time, unexpected emergency and crises are things that give the index to character. The need of boys and girls today is not a benefactor but a big brother and sister to focus the need and bring it home. No amount of wishful thinking will overcome the realities." He outlined the program as suggested by the church.

SAYS NO ARMS JOB RECEIVED

Rumors have persisted locally for some weeks that the Fleury-Bissell Co. Ltd. would shortly be engaged in the manufacture of war munitions. In conversation with a representative of The Era, W. A. Johnston, plant superintendent, specifically denied that such was the case.

"We have no knowledge of where or how this rumor originated," he told us. "There is nothing mysterious about our plant and we are not now engaged in the manufacture of munitions or so engaged."

The Fleury-Bissell company is busy supplying its ordinary trade business and has been working overtime for some months so well have its products been received in the market. With increased farm prices, it is to be expected that the firm will expand even further and continue to be one of Aurora's most consistent industries from an employment standpoint.

DOWN THE CENTRE

"To beg little, to show well, to crow gently if in luck, to pay up, to own up, and to shut up if beaten, are the virtues of a sporting man."—O. W. Holmes.

1942 seems a long time to look ahead to, but that's just where Mr. and Mrs. George Cosford, joint owners of Aurora's only racing stables, have their eyes fixed. The Cosfords have a yearling colt in their stables, which, if blood lines count for anything in the sport of kings, should give them a real chance to win the King's Plate in '42.

The young equine is Sandow, a son of the veteran Sandridge and Rosecroft. The grandsire is Rock Sand, one of the best winners on the English tracks in the early part of the century, and a member of the late King Edward's string of go-getters. Careful handling, special training and a thorough trial for speed by gradual stages is the program for the next few years, and then the big day will come for the supreme test!

Fate has not been too kind to gold, blue and red colors of the Aurora entries this last few years but nothing is more uncertain than horse racing, and there is always another day. Incidentally, Rock-roma from the same stable is scheduled to enter the lists at Long Branch in the near future. We know practically nothing about picking a winner, so we offer no comments, except "Good luck George."

The change in the weather and the need for a fire reminds us that hockey is just around the corner, and that the date for residence changes by players will soon reach deadline. The executive of the local Junior "C" Champs have been mysteriously silent and as yet no date has been set for the annual meeting.

Knowing the powers that be as well as we do, we presume that they definitely have something on tap which they are as yet not ready to reveal, but will make public at the proper time. We think, however, there should be a meeting soon so that the fans of the district will have some idea as to what players are available, and in what series they will play.

There are, so we are informed, others not too many miles away who are at present baffled by the deep silence of the Aurora board of strategy. Their anxiety might also be appeased. Milton, last year's finalists, are already strongly organized, and contemplating running an intermediate and juvenile team in addition to a junior team reputedly strengthened this year.

The outlook for a strong "B" team at Barrie is as yet very black, we learn. It looks like there are plenty of empty saddles.

PROMPT ACTION SAVES MOTOR

Firemen were called from their beds early Monday morning to save an automobile owned by Mr. Johnson of Newmarket which had caught fire on south Yonge St. The brigade responded promptly and were able to put out the flames before any substantial damage was done.

BORN IN SAME HOUSE, CHRISTENED IN SAME CHURCH AS HIS GRANDFATHER, EX-MAYOR

The third generation to be christened in the Church of England, Aurora, Peter Alexander Taylor Hodgkinson, was presented for christening on Sunday at 4 p.m.

Rev. G. O. Lightbourn had charge of the service. The godparents were Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Walte, Sr. of Aurora, and Mr. Alex Lindsay of Toronto.

The christening robes belong to the Taylor family. All seven children of Major W. H. Taylor have worn them and nine of the 11 grandchildren. The baby too was born in the same house as his grandfather.

ASSESSMENT IS UP BY $10,000

Aurora's veteran assessor, W. H. Taylor, has just completed his fourth successive assessment roll and it is now in the hands of the town clerk.

The total assessment is reported to be increased by $10,000, with an increase in population of 48 persons. Births last year exceeded deaths by four, but, of course, this excludes babies born in hospitals, who are registered from the hospital centre. School children or those of school age are estimated at 560.

The canine population amounts to 155, as reported to the assessor. Property appears to be at a premium, as there are only three vacant houses and these but temporarily so at the time the assessor called.

PASTOR HONORED ON 118TH ANNIVERSARY

Rev. A. R. Park, pastor of Aurora Baptist church, has been singularly honored by being asked to take both morning and evening services at Claremont Baptist church, on Sunday, Oct. 1, on the occasion of the 118th anniversary of the founding of the church.

Mr. Park was pastor at Claremont for four years prior to moving to Toronto and subsequently to Aurora. The present pastor is the Rev. P. D. Augustine, and on Sunday the Baker Hill ladies' octette, well known to York Music Festival audiences, will furnish special music. On Monday evening a church supper will be held with fitting musical numbers provided by outstanding artists.

The church is one of the oldest in York county and its history has been marked by a spirit of co-operation and friendliness with other denominations. On Sunday evening the Claremont United church is foregoing its usual evening service to join their Baptist neighbors in worship on this eventful occasion.

AURORANS ATTEND SCARLET RALLY

R. W. Bro. W. H. Taylor and John Hudson, county master of the County Black Chapter of York, were among the distinguished members of the Orange order who attended the recent Scarlet rally sponsored by the Toronto Western District Royal Scarlet Chapter. R. W. Bro. A. A. Gray, past grand master of Ontario west, proposed the toast to the visitor and Mr. Taylor was among those who replied. Eight candidates were exalted by the crack degree team of London District Chapter No. 1.

EX-MAYOR REALIZES LONG HELD AMBITION

When Betty Boulding presses the light switch some day next week, the Aurora Clinic will be officially opened, and one of Dr. C. R. Boulding's life ambitions will have become a reality.

This week The Era was permitted to have a pre-view of the building and to the layman's eye it seems to be the last word in modern architecture and there is not an inch of waste space. Nearly two months ago petite Anne Boulding turned the first sod. Since then workmen under the careful guidance of architect Gordon Hazley have rushed the clinic to completion.

The exterior is of white stucco with stainless steel trimmings and the spacious windows testify that there will be plenty of light available. The interior color motif is in rose and pearl grey and is washable and fairly bristles with cleanliness.

There are some seven rooms in all including a reception hall and waiting-room, a laboratory and dispensing room where blood and microscopic tests will be made and prescriptions filled, a surgery for conodonts and minor surgical operations, a radiology laboratory, a nursery, a bed-room for patients under observation, and of course the doctor's new office.

The furnishings are plain of a modern type, while the technical equipment installed is said to be as fine as there now is north of Toronto. The lighting is indirect of the latest vogue.

The nurse in charge is Mrs. G. Corbett of Woodstock, who has already quietly and modestly fitted into the scheme of things. Prior to coming to Aurora, Nurse Corbett was in charge of x-ray work at Perth hospital, and she has had a world of experience in general nursing in addition.

The clinic will hold open house for the general public next week. Doubtless the majority of citizens will take this opportunity of inspecting this new venture in local medical history.

Mr. Cameron is one of Aurora's best known builders and his many friends join in wishing him a speedy recovery.

AURORA BUILDER SUFFERS STROKE WHILE WORKING IN KINGSTON, SON IS WITH HIM

Some days ago while engaged at his trade of stone mason with his employer, Stanley Miller, of Newmarket, at Kingston, Ont., Daniel Cameron of Wellington St. suffered a partial paralytic stroke and was removed to Kingston General Hospital. His condition is reported today as progressing favorably.

His son, Max, formerly manager of the A & P store at Newmarket, and Mrs. Cameron drove to Kingston at once and at the time of writing are still there.

This year the school is divided into six teams composed of both boys and girls with joint captains. Teams and captains this year are: Imperials, Ewart Jennings and Barbara Grimes; Olympics, Ray Lloyd and Verna Riddell; U-Tris, Howard Folliott and Anna Blesch; Blue Comets, Ed. Sheridan and Marg. Regrets Only War Could Give Prosperity To Parish

ROLAND HILL TELLS OF SUMMER PASTORATE IN FAR NORTH

Roland Hill, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Hill of Wellington St., has returned home to resume his studies at Wycliffe College, Toronto. Mr. Hill is now entering his fourth year as a theological student.

For the second successive summer he has been in charge of the parish of Lac Labiche in northern Alberta in the Anglican diocese of Athabasca.

The parish of Lac Labiche, or Deer Lake, as it is often referred to, covers some 80 odd miles, and eight points at which services are conducted. The lake itself is comparable in size to Lake Simcoe and the district is composed largely of English and Ukrainian settlers with many Indians and half-breeds. Furs, fishing and mixed farming are the principal sources of revenue.

The village of Lac Labiche is the over-night stopping point of the Northern Alberta Railway between Edmonton and Waterways (Fort McMurray).

Bronzed and looking the picture of health, Mr. Hill, when interviewed by The Era, said, "Mixed farming is fast becoming the chief industry of this section. The crops are exceedingly good this year and with an expected increase in prices as a result of the war the farmers are most confident of a prosperous season."

It is regrettable that it should be war alone which may be responsible for these hard-working people receiving a favorable return for their produce."

Mr. Hill reported many settlers leaving the northern part of Alberta from the gold fields in the expectancy that this industry would suffer by economic conditions. He believed, however, that this is but a temporary movement and the mining industry, which is fast becoming a leader in Alberta, will be but little affected.

"The people are simple in their tastes, industrious and deeply appreciative of things spiritual," he said. "I cannot but comment on the great work being done by Bishop Sovereign, who is in charge of the diocese, and is beloved by his thousands of parishioners and he keeps in constant touch with local conditions in a manner that is amazing for one so busily engaged in such a large territory."

IS JURY FOREMAN
Councillor Geo. H. Leary of Whitechurch township was foreman of the grand jury at the fall session of the assize court presided over by Justice Urquhart.

Era printers spare no pains to make every job attractive.

The competition was decided upon the best low net score for each team of four players and when the smoke of battle had cleared an Aurora team with a net score of 300 was found to be the winner.

The victorious quartet included Bill Bankes, local club champion, Dr. G. W. Williams, Ed. Chatterley and L. C. Lee.

In second place was the team of W. J. Sisman, Reg. Cowan, N. G. DoPenciler and Dr. C. R. Boulding, also from Aurora, while a Barrie foursome were close behind in third place but out of the money.

Next year the competition will be held earlier and it is expected teams from the Barrie, Georgetown, Midland and Orillia clubs will be additional starters.

"This event leaves only a few important matches to be decided, the men's club handicap section, and the annual president vs. vice-president team match. On Sunday a special handicap match will be played for the coveted trophy donated by Sir William Mulock."

VICTORIA SQUARE POPULAR BRIDE-ELECT SHOWED WITH GIFTS

On Wednesday evening of last week the Junior Farmers club from Stouffville were the guests of the Square club and presented an interesting program that was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

On Saturday evening the community hall was filled to capacity by friends and relatives of Miss Ethel Morison who had gathered to honor her with a miscellaneous shower. Many beautiful and useful gifts were received by the popular bride-elect of this month.

Rally day services were observed in the church and Sunday-school on Sunday afternoon.

The sudden shower of rain on Sunday evening reduced the crowd at the Y. P. U. meeting but those who did brave the elements thoroughly enjoyed the program prepared by the Christian culture convener, Mabel Caseley. Fraser Gee gave a splendid topic. Mabel Sanderson gave a reading. Misses Marion Boynton and Bonnie Robertson sang "Alone," and John King sang "For You I Am Praying."

Next Sunday Rev. John Macdonald will have charge of the anniversary services at Wyevalle, a former charge, and in his absence the Y. P. U. will have charge of the service at Victoria Square. Their meeting will be cancelled in the evening as the choir is furnishing special music at the anniversary service at Carrville.

Quite a number of young people attended the opening night of the fall training school sponsored by the Toronto Centre North Presbytery in Trinity United church, Newmarket, on Tuesday night.

On Tuesday next the Junior Farmers and Institute will meet in the community hall for their monthly meeting at 8 p.m.

Sunday being such a lovely day there was a good attendance at the rally service.

The Misses Margaret and Marion Richardson of Wesley church sang a lovely duet.

As a special speaker was not available each teacher took their own classes.

For the afternoon service the church was well filled. Dr. D. McIntyre's message was "What is thy name?"

Sunday, Oct. 1, Dr. McIntyre's subject will be "What think ye of Christ?"

Rev. P. C. Currey was the special anniversary speaker at the evening service. The congregation is always pleased to have with them Mr. Currey. The male quartet of the Presbyterian church rendered two lovely songs.

The King's daughters class of Pine Orchard Sunday-school are having a Thanksgiving service on Oct. 8, at 7:30 p.m. Rev. Mr. Smally of Stouffville will be the minister.

On Monday night the anniversary social held at the home of Mr. Edson Johnston, proved very successful, in spite of the rainy evening. About 40 people were present.

The evening was spent in games, contests and community singing.

And Then HOME

By Rev. R. R. McMath
No city in Canada expresses the dual personality of French and English-speaking people as does the city of Montreal. Summer or winter the tourist business is both the same in Montreal. Both seasons equally attract. Mount Royal, which protects the city and from which the city takes its name, is a delightful spot from which to view the entire city. No autos are allowed on top of the mountain but one can easily climb the steps provided, or hire a horse-drawn vehicle. The mountain also provides for skiing and tobogganing in the winter.

Many years ago Jacques Cartier came sailing up the St. Lawrence and as he thought arrived at the door of China. He planted a wooden cross on Mount Royal and declared he had taken the mountain for Christ and France. In its place today stands a beautiful new steel cross some 60 feet high, beautifully lighted by electricity. All-comers to the city at eventide can see this cross lighted as far away as 30 miles.

Other spots and items of interest are: St. Joseph's shrine; the Victoria Bridge, at the north end of which is a huge memorial stone erected by the bridge laborers to the brave Irishmen who died by the ship-load from fever; Notre Dame cathedral, which seats about 15,000 and has the largest bell on the North American continent. (It weighs about 15 tons); Chateau de Ramezay; McGill University, etc.

Montreal is on the island of Montreal, lying between the Ottawa river and the great St. Lawrence. At the west end is Ste. Ann de Bellevue, where McDonald Agricultural College is located and also the Normal Training School for teachers. The college grounds are spacious and beautiful covering a golf course and gardens and hot-houses besides beautiful driveways and the very modern buildings and residences.

One hundred miles from there we reached Ottawa, having covered the distance in two and one-quarter hours. This is a lovely drive on the shores of the Ottawa river. There are many villages along the way but no large towns. At Pointe Fortune we crossed the border from Quebec back into Ontario. You will always know the border by presence of the sign, "The King's Highway." One reaches Ottawa almost, though, before one gets away from the French language. The approach to Ottawa from the east is very delightful. The road is very winding and scenic and the river lends added beauty to the scene.

Ottawa is the capital of our beloved dominion and was once called Bytown after Colonel By. He belonged to the Royal Engineers and constructed the Rideau Canal. A beloved queen made it the capital and the name Ottawa is a derivation of Adawe—"to trade." It is an Indian name. Ottawa is the home of our dominion government and perhaps nowhere can one see such a magnificent suite of parliament buildings. The view from the top of the peace tower is a dazzling one. The view is clear for many miles up the Gatineau and it has the appearance of fertility.

We saw the new war memorial, which was unveiled by His Majesty King George on his recent visit to our country. We spent a few days at Alceve, some 30 miles up the Gatineau. A new highway was in process and it was interesting to watch the logs quietly meandering down the river. At Gleneagles one tried to play golf on a course just under construction. To lose or not to lose balls was the game. Everybody lost and everybody found, but not their own. It was the most compensating course we have known.

One wonders what there is in that yet undeveloped country that there should be such transportation provision. The waterway, railway and roadway run parallel with only a few feet between them. The return journey home did not hold much of immediate interest, as we had travelled it so often. We came by way of Carleton Place and Smiths Falls into Kingston. One noticed though that the province is not making much effort to attract tourists to the older centres of attraction.

At Chaffey's Locks and Opinicon, which have long been attractive fishing centres, the roads are beyond description, unless one is allowed to express himself in profane language. Even then he might fail to do justice to the road condition. We broke off number two highway at Brighton and called at Campbellford, which was new territory.

However, with all we saw in our long and interesting travels there was not much to beat our lovely drive from Brooklin to Langstaff. That piece of road is always most interesting and the scenery is charming. It's good to go away and it's better to come home. "Be it ever so humble there is no place like home." That does not imply the chair.

W. L. Bosworth introduced the speaker as a bowler and golfer and a fine sportsman. In moving a vote of thanks, T. F. Doyle said: "I don't know when I have listened to anything more interesting, more instructive."

The monthly meeting of the Willing Workers will be held on Oct. 4, at the home of Mrs. Ross Armitage, assisted by Mrs. Wood. The scripture will be read by Mrs. Armitage, prayer will be given by Mrs. Wood and the topic, "Origin of Thanksgiving Day," will be taken by Mrs. E. Starr. The music will be supplied by Ruth Armitage.

INSTITUTE LADIES SAY HOW TO BE PUNCTUAL

The September meeting of the Newmarket Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. D. R. McDonald last Thursday, with an attendance of 75 ladies.

The president, Mrs. Frank Hope, was in the chair. Roll-call was answered with, "How to form a habit of being punctual." Favorable reports were received from the convenors of the bazaar to be held on Oct. 13.

An invitation was received from Sharon Institute to be their guests on Wednesday, Oct. 4.

The meeting was passed over to the Churchill Institute members, who were Newmarket's guests and provided a most interesting program. Miss A. Allan gave a resume of Nellie McCung's poem, "Clearing the West." Mrs. George Constable read a paper on "The Value of Bread," and Mrs. R. Boyes gave an account of her trip in England while attending the convention this summer. Lovely vocal and piano duets were also enjoyed.

A social hour was spent at the close, when the local society served refreshments.

POT-POURRI

BY GOLDEN GLOW

It is queer to trace your thoughts back to their source, and really interesting. Our high school literature teacher used to call it "the association of ideas." This morning I found myself thinking of kindergarten schools. Don't shy at the German word "kindergarten."
For Herr Hitler had absolutely nothing to do with it! He isn't our ideal German, not by any manner of means! In our younger days we all learned a great many nice things about Germany and the Germans, and believe me, Germans, the really nice ones, have created some wonderful institutions and ideas for which I think we should give them credit. And the kindergarten schools, as you know, was one of them.

I intend to go into all the details and "statistics"—for really one can get them from any encyclopedia, and get the fact that Friedrich Froebel founded the first Kindergarten school in Blankenburg in the year 1840, after five or more years of intense study and observation of children's habits and proclivities, at an orphanage of which he was director. It was for the "psychological training of little children (4 to 6 years) by means of play and occupation."

This morning I watched the children going by to school and saw some quite small ones among them, and I began to think of the splendid start tiny tots get attending kindergarten.

Of course, you'll find certain people who regard it as a "lot of bologna," that children "know how to play without anybody showing them." Oh yes, you'll find plenty who carp and criticize, and they'll tell you that "little children should be at home with their mother." They do not stop to study the matter out or they would realize that the child's natural and normal activities should be directed along educational lines, especially with proper toys and playthings. Besides which they are taught to live with others, taught to share, taught to do things in unison, taught, through play, to think. They are taught to be always courteous, the foundation of future good manners is laid in their baby days, which they will never forget.

Through the forms of games,
songs, where they put in the motions, marching to music, and handwork, even if it is only threading beads, they are kept busy and interested, and I need hardly add that a busy, interested child is a happy child. And usually the routine and regularity of their kindergarten school days tends towards good health as well. You see I am a firm believer in the system of kindergarten and, where the teacher is cheerful and patient and sympathetic the results are marvellous, and many a person who has been privileged to attend such a school will look back on it with pleasure.

The word "kindergarten" simply means "garden of children," and is the word used by its founder when he instituted his first "kindergarten school." I think it a very nice name indeed, and I hope the name will be allowed to remain, for if anyone has watched a kindergarten school in operation you will realize how aptly the name fits.
For quite a bit of the time is spent in a garden, when possible, and out-of-door games indulged in.
And oh, how the little ones enjoy it! The spontaneous response to the teachers' suggestions and instructions prove that.

I cannot end up without a further word—just to say that I had a unique experience with a tiny little hummingbird one day this week. I was picking a bouquet of autumn flowers to take to a friend in York county hospital and as I waited with scissors poised to cut a spray, I heard the hum of its wings, so I instantly
"froze," and would you believe it,
three times that dainty little creature darted towards my flowers and darted away, then perched on a clothes-line about four feet away, and I had a delightful view of it. Then away it sped to other flowers. The birds are certainly gathering, ready for their long flight to the sunny south,
and how we will miss them.

HOLSTEIN MEN HOLD

BLACK AND WHITE SHOW

One hundred and fifty-four head of Holsteins are already entered for the black and white show at Markham on Friday, Oct. 6. Such was the gratifying report brought in at the York County Holstein club directors' meeting at Richmond Hill on Monday night by the show committee, which had set 150 as their objective several months ago when they asked the Markham Agricultural Society for the Friday of their show to exhibit these entries. Incidentally, it is interesting to note that all prizes are equal, every prize being $3, but a total of $501 offered.

As the entries do not close until Sept. 30, Jos. Darlington, fieldman for the club, expects there will be a few more entries. Prof. Geo. E.
Rathby, of the Ontario Agricultural college, will have a busy day placing the awards and the directors are bent on having the aged bull in the ring sharp at 10 a.m.
To enable the spectators to follow
the classes and identify the animals,
a catalogue of entries is being prepared to be distributed free and all exhibitors or attendants will have a large number indicating the number of the entry he is showing.

The health regulations are more strict than for the Class A fair, in that all animals shown must be free from health with a clean bill of health with respect to T. B. and Bang's disease, and to ensure that no animal is misrepresented, each will be identified by its pedigree or certificate of registration as it enters the judging ring by a representative of the Canadian Holstein Association.

All admirers of the Holstein will be on hand at Markham on Oct.
6 to look into the York County Holstein show window. Breeders

from Pickering township, adjoining Markham, are also eligible for this fair.

BELL TELEPHONE
WILL DO ITS BIT

The following message to employees from C. A. Sise, president of the Bell Telephone Co., was called to The Era's attention by Harold McClelland, Newmarket,
district manager of the company.

"Canada, along with Britain and the sister nations of the empire, is at war. The cause in which now she is called upon to consecrate all her resources is nothing less than the preservation of human liberty,
the re-establishment of good faith
amongst the nations of the world.
"It was only after the breakdown of long-continued efforts to preserve the peace that Britain embarked on her present course. Prime Minister Chamberlain said in proclaiming a state of war with Germany—

"We have done all that any country could do to establish peace.
But a situation in which no word given by Germany's ruler could be trusted and no people or country could feel itself safe, has become intolerable. And now we have resolved to finish it."

"Obviously the determination expressed in the premier's statement implies the whole-souled devotion of all the people of the British Commonwealth. Everyone has a part to play."

"The service which we as a company render the community was never of more importance to the country's welfare than it is in this grave crisis. Already we have pledged ourselves as a company to do everything within our power to aid the government. We have outlined the extent to which we are prepared to aid those associating themselves with the militia and the active service forces—

"Regular employees in the service of the company as of Sept. 1, 1939, shall be granted leave of absence with eligibility to benefits in case of death in accordance with the plan for employees' pensions, disability benefits, and death benefits."

"The company undertakes to reemploy such employees upon discharge from the army, navy, or air force service, and the period of time covered by such service will be credited to the employee for the purposes of the plan for employees' pensions, disability benefits and death benefits."

"On behalf of the dependents of married employees and of the dependent children of employees who are widowers, payments will be made by this company, which together with service pay and all allowances from the government, will equal the employee's basic wage. In no case, however, shall the amount payable by this company exceed one-half of the employee's basic rate of pay."

"In the case of other employees with dependents, the company
upon submission of the necessary evidence as to dependency will give consideration to the granting of an allowance on behalf of their dependents."

"The company reserves the right
at any time to cancel or amend the foregoing regulations, but allowances then in effect will not be affected by such cancellations or amendments."

"I am confident that those who will carry on from day to day the regular tasks of telephone service will bear constantly in mind the importance of doing their part, whatever it may be, in a spirit of courage, hopefulness, and devotion; that they will accept with alacrity such assignments for the general good as may be within their power to undertake, and that,
to the very end of the grave period
on which we have entered, they will discharge all their duties to the best of their ability. In such manner we are all privileged to play a worthy part."

CHRISTINA ARDILL
WEDS A. W. PUGSLEY

Miss Christina Edith Ardill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ardill, became the bride of Arthur William Pugsley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pugsley, in a quiet ceremony at St. James' church, Sutton West, Wednesday, Sept. 20.
Rev. O. M. Twiss officiated.

The chancel was decorated with white daisies and pink carnations and the rest of the church with varied autumn flowers. Mrs.
M. O. Tremayne played the wedding music.

The bride, given in marriage
by her father, wore a gown of wine sheer wool crepe, a wine belt with shoulder length veil and matching shoes, her gloves were beige in contrast. She carried a nosegay of white carnations. She was attended by her sister, Miss Kathleen Ardill in Robin Hood
blue wool sheer and accessories to match. Her nosegay was of mixed flowers.

Mr. Robert Pugsley, brother of the groom, was best man.

The bride and groom left immediately after the ceremony for Montreal and a trip through eastern Canada. On their return
Mr. and Mrs. Pugsley will live

BRITISH ISRAELITES HEAR

INTERESTING ADDRESS

Last Sunday afternoon the regular weekly meetings of the British Israel Federation were recommenced. A goodly number turned out last Sunday to hear Miss Mabel Harbour, Toronto,
give the address. Miss Harbour took for her subject "The Portrait of Jesus Christ." It was very much out of the ordinary run of addresses and everyone who heard her was particularly pleased. She gave several instances to prove her contention that Christ was the Anglo-Saxon type.

Next Sunday, Mr. Christian gives the address. The meetings are held in the Presbyterian church at 3.30 p.m. every Sunday afternoon. Everybody is welcome.

taking off that extra 20 pounds.

My compliments to the members of the high school staff responsible for the program of events especially the "girls' steeplechase." It sure was a feature.

Although handicapped by the small field entered, the two girls who did enter deserve a lot of credit for their broken field running and fence climbing. Never have I seen better under the circumstances.

Twice the "GOAT" nearly caught them.

To be serious, the lad who caught my eye was Bill Jelley,
the junior title holder.

His effortless style in the sprints and his ability to compete in the field events reminded me of Stallard, although Bill is built a little heavier than was the triple county champion.

Bill's shattering of the running broad jump record by almost two feet was spectacular, to say the least, bettering a mark of years standing.

Jelley no doubt is one of the best track prospects that the old school has seen in a long time and last year played the role of a side-line competitor.

All the champions are up to scratch and a word of warning,
watch the purple and gold next Wednesday at Richmond Hill.

The fisticuffs melange has been set back a week due to inability to procure the leather-pushers that the management were trying to date.

Thus the date of the scramble
will be the sixth of October,
Friday evening at the arena,
where the local boxers are already working out.

Joe Spillette informed your column this morning that the best boys in the queen city at their various weights are in line and no matter which ones come the fans can be assured of a decent scrap for their simoleons.

Kid Burke and Johnny C'Connor are on the card for a certainty and both these boys generally give a good account of themselves in their home town.

Next edition your scribe hopes to have a line on the imported stock on the card, and will attempt to give a summary of some of their ring careers.

Along the grapevine—Whitey Bone, defence man with the Aurora juniors last season, has joined the colors with the C.A.S.C.—Your scribe heard a rumour last week that we may have a junior puck squad in the metropolis this winter—True or false, we would like to know—

The rugby bug has some of the boys at the high school on the dither and there's a lot of kicking being done even before field day is over—Yours truly tried a whirl at it on field day and felt that 20 pounds worse than ever—
I just didn't have the unph—
With the end of September the puckers are beginning to think about getting into shape—
Not really so very long till we will hear the toot of the referee and thud of the bodies hitting

the ice—We gather that Sutton with their smart intermediate Greenhills, will foster a junior squad this winter—Starting the old chain business, eh, well, can't blame you—Something to polish off with, Kid Burke says he's going to register a K.O. on his next waltz, so pin him down and make him come through keeds—
Yours sportingly.

MOUNT ALBERT WERE SCHOOMATES IN SCOTLAND

Mrs. Andrew Hamilton and daughter, Viola, of Gilbert Plains, Manitoba, are visiting Mrs. Hamilton's sister, Miss Tillie Dunn.

Mrs. Dean of Bolton and Mrs. Wildfong of Kitchener were guests last week at the home of their sister, Mrs. W. Armstrong.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Smith, Gregory and Elizabeth of Gravenhurst were weekend visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Steeper.

A number from Mount Albert went to Quaker Hill on Sunday morning to attend services at the church there which marked its 100th anniversary.

Rev. Hugh Shannon of Queensville was the minister at the United church on Sunday in the absence of Rev. R. V. Wilson, who was preaching at the anniversary services at Hope church. During Mr. Shannon's stay, he was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver, and discovered that he and Mr. Oliver had been schoolmates in Scotland. Needless to say, they had a good visit.

Allen Twining, the Christian naturalist, will be in the Mount Albert gospel church, U.F.O. hall, on Friday, Sept. 29, at 8 p.m.

Mr. Twining will show many of his best slides and give a talk on wild life, interwoven with the good news of salvation.

There will be no admission fee, but a free offering will be accepted.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Watts and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Oldham and Mr. Alan Dickson spent the weekend with relatives at Rossau, Muskoka.

HENRY A. LANCE WAS ONLY 29 YEARS OLD

There passed away in the isolation hospital, Toronto, on Sept. 19, Henry Lance of Sutton after a very short illness in his 30th year.

He was born in Windermere, Muskoka, on Sept. 1, 1910, and moved to this district when quite young. He has lived here most of his life since then and made many friends.

The remains were laid to rest in Cedarvale cemetery, Cannington. Left to mourn his loss are his loving wife, daughter, Betty, 5, and son, Jackie, 3; his father, two sisters and four brothers.

AURORA

NO CHARGE LAID

A collision occurred at the corner of Yonge and Wellington streets on Wednesday evening when a motor vehicle driven by Earl Mundy of Thornhill collided with the rear of a truck owned by the Aurora dairy. Little damage was done to the dairy truck but the Mundy car was considerably damaged. Chief Constable Dunham investigated but no charge will be laid.

WILL BUILD ULTRA MODERN BARN

F. A. See, who recently acquired the old Case farm, Yonge St. south, has started to re-build the barn, which was destroyed by fire some months ago. Work is under the supervision of George Lawson, and it is believed that when completed the building will be one of the most modern barns in this district.

VISITOR TAKES TRINITY THANKSGIVING SERVICE

On Thursday evening, Sept. 28, the annual harvest thanksgiving service of Trinity Anglican church will be held. The special preacher for the evening will be Rev. W. J. Province, rector of Medonte and rural dean of East Simcoe.

Mr. Province is one of the outstanding clergymen of the Anglican church and served overseas during the last great war. It is expected that his sermon will be particularly of interest at this time. The decoration of the church will be cared for by the women's parochial guild.

The rector and church wardens have deemed it advisable to change the hour for the Sunday-school. Commencing Sunday, Oct. 1, the Sabbath school will be held at 2:30 p.m. Parents and scholars are requested to note this change in time.

HYDRO EMPLOYEE SUFFERS ACCIDENT

John P. Cox, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Cox of St. Clements Ave., Toronto, who formerly resided in Aurora, is at present on duty with the provincial police at Sudbury. Some weeks ago he offered his services to one of the local militia units, but has not as yet been accepted. Mr. Cox's younger brother, Ben, Jr., who is employed by the Ontario Hydro Commission at Dundas, Ont., recently suffered concussion of the brain when he fell from a scaffold while engaged in his duties. He is progressing favorably and is expected to return to his employment shortly.

REORGANIZE BOX FOOTBALL SEASON

A meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in the town hall on Friday evening, Sept. 29, for the purpose of re-organizing the local box football league. Last year there were four teams in the loop, and the T. Sisman Shoe Company were cup winners, eliminating the Fleury-Bissell team in the finals.

All four teams from last season, namely, Sisman Shoe, Collis Leather, Town and Fleury-Bissell will again seek franchises, while it is believed that the Aurora Cycling club and the Aurora Orchard will also post entries. A full attendance of represent-

West) for the cordial "welcome home," met on every hand by the returning "old boys and girls."

In order to be present it was necessary for me to give up some other things I had planned, but can truly say that any sacrifice I made was well worth-while, as I shall long remember the school reunions, where I met many old friends, and where pleasant memories were recalled. Then, too, the garden party at Mrs. Rena Denne Bosworth's was such an enjoyable affair, when everyone had a good time, renewing old acquaintances and meeting newer ones.

I have read over some comments on the reunion in your paper, from one or two who do not seem to be in accord with the handling of the affair, or its "returns." They are rather ungrateful to the committee. Someone who should know told me that the committee did not intend in any way to hold this as a mere money-making affair, but to keep the town on the map and also to hold the interest of its former residents. In another issue I read that one man said, "the reunion did not benefit the Newmarket merchants," but I hope he was all wrong, as I judged other visitors were as loyal as myself and "bought at home." Every purchase I made was made in Newmarket and not one in Toronto, so, although I could not carry any large amount with me, the goods I brought back were from my old home town. After all the extra time, labor and planning done by the committee, it does seem that their efforts to make the reunion the success it was, from a "home-comer's" standpoint, should be more fully appreciated.

Am keenly interested in the work the Lions club is doing, also the York county hospital and am glad to know that the town's two bands have such high ranking. For over 50 years I have kept up an ardent admiration for that town band because of its personnel and the splendid music they rendered in the old days.

Yes, I read almost everything I can find in The "Era," except the police court news and the town council's "squabbles," for which I begrudge the space devoted to them.

In a recent issue, in an editorial note, there was a reference to Acton, wanting to claim Mazo (de la) Roche as a native daughter, and though she may have lived there at some time, I am quite sure that she was born in Newmarket, and lived there the first few years of her life as her father and his two brothers were unmarried when they came to Newmarket. Danford Roche married Miss Ida Pearson, daughter of Jas. J. Pearson, whose home bordering on Fairy Lake is now owned by Mrs. Baque (I believe). William Roche married Miss Berta Lundy, daughter of Mr. Daniel Lundy of Prospect St. (or Garbutt Hill, as we called it, then).

They were Mazo's parents and I recall her telling me that she was "Mazo Louise Roche" (a pretty little lot of about three years) when I was sent to her father's store for groceries. He sold out after a few years, and moved away, but although I was quite young, I can well remember the Roche "boys," Danford, Will and Frank, a lawyer, as well as their mother, Mrs. Sarah Roche, a stately lady who reminded me of Queen Victoria's pictures.

If some of the older residents of the town can verify or correct my statements I will be very glad of it, but now I must close for this time, as I may want to write again. The weather has been mostly warm with but little rain. Our hottest days were Sept. 15 and 16, when the mercury hit 97 to 100 degrees (not far from the lake). Fruit is abundant and cheap, owing to rise in sugar prices. With best wishes to The "Era" and the townspeople,

Very sincerely,
Helena H. Hance.
